19:20 Q&A Session

What kind of legal protections shall I seek in my labour contract? How can I renew my working permit? What is the tax regime applicable to my family and myself? How do I protect myself against currency fluctuations? Which formalities shall I fulfill with respect to my foreign bank account? Shall I change my tax residence? Do I have to pay taxes twice? Do I have to file any tax declaration? These are just some of the questions that plague the daily lives of expatriates living in Russia.

In our seminar we will discuss, among other, the new laws and regulations that may affect employment of expatriates living in Russia, remote employment, future restriction for using secondment, etc. Moreover, we will focus on simplification of work permit procedure for the citizens of WTO-countries, changes in work permit procedure for highly-qualified specialists, the exam on Russian language, history and basics of legislation, medical aid issues, etc. Tax implications for employee and employer, including in case of highly qualified specialist.

Guests and friends of the firm who wish to extend an invitation to other interested persons are requested to communicate their names at eventi.mosca@dejalex.com
